Seven Will Compete For Three Positions On Board of Trustees

Present Office Holders Seek Re-election and Young Men to Race

Last minute applications for places on the village ticket to fill the three posts of trustees brought to seven the number of candidates and promises a spirited race.

Arthur Rosenfeldt, George S. Wagner and Elmer Rentner whose terms of office have expired, are all three seeking re-election.

Pitted against them are Edward A. Knickelbein, Windsor Dalgard, James Mapleshorpe and Merrill Cunningham.

Clerk L. D. Powles said it had not yet been decided how the names would be placed on the ticket but consideration has been given to placing all seven names on one ticket with the instruction to the voter to choose three.

The appearance of two young veterans in the race came as a surprise and gives evidence of the interest of the younger men in civic affairs.

Powles said that March 15 is the last day for withdrawal and that the election will take place on April 15.

Bidders Sought For New School Building to Be Erected at Grass Lake

Five-room Schoolhouse Will Include Gymnasium And Kitchen

Bids are being sought for the construction of a new one-story school building at Grass Lake to replace the present building which has been outgrown.

The district No. 36 has a bonding power up to $70,000 and its hoped that the cost of construction will come within that limit.

The architect is Leo Strelka of Oak Park, who designed St. Peter's Catholic church in this village, and his plans have been approved.

The building will be erected on a hill on the 19-acre plot the board recently purchased from Walter Manz directly west of the present school site.

The structure will have two class rooms, a gymnasium, a kitchen, and library, and a small basement for the heating system and other utilities. It will accommodate 80 pupils.

Germicidal Lamps
The building will be constructed of Lannon stone and face brick. The roof will be of copper with standing seams, and the floors will be inlaid with asphalt tile. Windows will be on two walls on each room and the light from them will be augmented by fluorescent lighting. There will be germicidal lamps for health purposes. The walls will be of acoustical plaster.

An oil burner will provide the heat for the hot air system.

The building will be farther back from the road than the old building which may be moved back so as not to obstruct the view. The old building will be retained for a possible overflow of the new building if the number of pupils continues to grow.

Walter Forbick, clerk of the board said.

Fine View
Forbick said that with the completion of the new building it no longer will be necessary to take the overflow number of pupils to other districts by bus as is now done and bus service will be discontinued.

The building is expected to have a commanding view of the region. It will face and overlook Grass Lake and the lotus beds. At the rear is a woodland which the children can use as a playground.

The members of the school board are Charles Kempf, president; Walter Forbick, clerk; and Arthur Anderson, director.

The organization is strictly a self-supporting one in that no financial aid is given by the school and all practice sessions and other meetings are held before or after school hours.

The regular concert of the school's music department will take place later in the year, with the band and choral groups taking part.

Firemen Plan Dance, Convention at Meeting; Truck Salesman Talks

Revised By-Laws Given First Reading at Tuesday Night's Session

The fire department made more plans for their dance on April 12 and for the county convention in Antioch May 26 at their meeting Tuesday evening.

There was a good attendance at the meeting and much interest was shown in the proposed amendment of the by-laws which was given first reading.

The committee on the convention revealed plans for a parade, water fights, tug-of-war, exhibits of new equipment and other entertainment during the afternoon which will be public.

The water fights will be of the type where a barrel or other object is suspended from a wire strung between two poles. This the committee said would be of the nature that spectators could enjoy without so much chance of getting wet.

The evening of the convention will be taken up with organization business and the election of officers. After this there will be a street dance free to all.

J. C. Foley, representing the American Fire Fighting Equipment Co., explained to the department the nature of the equipment his company is building. The approximate cost of the truck the department here wants will be about $4,000 exclusive of the chassis, which will cost about the same amount for the size and type the firemen want.

After some discussion about the size of pump needed, the general opinion of the firemen was that a pump of 500 gallons a minute capacity would be the minimum size considered, although some wanted a larger capacity.

Round Lake will have delivery next month on a truck from Foley's company and it will be on display at the convention here.

Conservation Department Allays Fears of Commercial Fishing in Local Lakes

Fears that lakes in the Chain O' Lakes region will be opened to commercial fishing are banished in a letter to the Antioch News from Sam A. Parr, superintendent of the division of fisheries of the State Department of Conservation.

Talk of the possibility of commercial fishing in the lakes around Antioch grew recently when the Illinois Federated Sportsmen's club placed the matter on the program of its convention at Springfield last month.

Protests were made to Rep. Nick Keller, a member of the House fish and game committee, and his investigation revealed that the department of conservation had nothing to do with any such movement.

Parr's letter to the Antioch News said:

"We have made no recommendation to allow commercial fishermen to take fine fish in Illinois. The Illinois Natural History survey recommended to us that crappie be allowed to be taken commercially from the Illinois rivers. But after a great deal of discussion this recommendation was turned down by the sportsmen and this department. The legislature certainly would not approve such action."

"The only commercial activity carried on the Chain O' Lakes is the rough fish removed program which is handled under the direct supervision of the department. Only carp, buffalo and other rough species of fish are allowed to be taken."

"Representative Keller is one of this department's staunch supporters. We wish to extend to him and the sportsmen of his district every consideration."

Mrs. Warriner Unhurt In Accident on Monday

Mrs. Edna Warriner of Windsor dr., escaped injury Monday when the automobile in which she was riding on Highway 50 west of Kenosha was hooked by a passing car and ditched.

The driver of the other car was Fred J. Feldshaw of Kenosha. The bumper of his car hooked that of Mrs. Warriner as he attempted to go around, and when the machine upset in the ditch his wife was injured. The Warriner car remained upright.

Lake Villa Men's Club is Host at Dinner and Dance

The Lake Villa Community Men's club entertained its wives and friends Tuesday evening at a dinner served by the W. S. C. S. at the school gymnasium.

Decision to Come Through Vote on Ten Per Cent Tax Increase

A referendum authorizing a 10 per cent increase in tax levy for educational purposes as a means of deciding whether or not Antioch township High school, Dist. 117 wants school bus service is scheduled for Saturday, March 29.

T. R. Birkhead, principal of the high school said that because the school board cannot legally hold a referendum merely on the question of whether or not the township wants buses, the referendum on tax increase, which would be necessary adjunct, was decided upon to get the same results.

A demand for school buses was made last fall and the board through postcard questionnaires sought to get opinion of 238 patrons of the school. Only 61 replies were received, 44 favoring the plan and 17 opposing it, and because of the meager response no action was taken.

Recent Demands Made
Recently the demand became more persistent and the board agreed to let the voters decide through the referendum.

The question on which the people will vote is:

"Shall the board of education of Antioch Township High school Dist. No. 117, Lake County, Ill., be authorized to levy a tax annually for educational purposes upon all the taxable property of the district of .55 per cent upon the full, fair cash value, as equalized or assessed by the department of revenue of the state of Illinois?"

The present levy is .50 per cent and the increase would be the .05 per cent.

Birkhead said that it might not be necessary to take the full amount, but the present levy is not sufficient to take care of the added cost which would in excess of $20,000.

Not For Teacher Salaries
Members of the board assured the people that the money would be used for the purchase of three buses and the garage to house them and nothing else. They said that while the money for such materials would come from the same fund that teachers' salaries

Power in the Southwest

Some time ago, the Southwestern Power Administration submitted to Congress a plan for marking the electric power output of the government-owned hydroelectric projects in the region. That plan involves spending nearly $250,000,000 of public money—not counting the cost of flood control dams and their generating stations—for building tax-exempt steam generating plants and transmission lines which largely duplicate the existing facilities of the heavily-taxed electric utilities in the Southwest.

For the time being, that plan is being held in abeyance in Congress. But its proponents are working aggressively to get it approved in full. The American people should realize the enormous, unnecessary waste of public funds involved.

The electric companies of the Southwest have made an offer whose main points are: to purchase the entire hydroelectric output of all existing dams and all other dams built in the future; to build at their own expense any additional transmission lines which may become necessary; to give preference to public bodies and to Rural Electric Cooperatives, as Congress may prescribe—and, under public regulation, pass on to the consumer savings which may accrue through the purchase of the power.

This plan would give the Southwest full benefits of the government-produced power. It would cost the taxpayers a single penny for duplicating facilities. It would create new taxable resources for all units of government, from villages to the national treasury, instead of destroying taxable income and property. It is based solidly on logic, economics and the needs and rights of the consuming public. And it would prevent loading a new burden on the backs of the taxpayers at a time when budget reduction is vital to national solvency.

Under these circumstances, what possible excuse can be offered for appropriating enormous sums to build unnecessary, duplicate power facilities in the Southwest? Every taxpayer, wherever he may live, has a stake in this.

Oil Well Rejuvenation

Before too long many oil wells that have been considered exhausted may be producing once again—and again the statisticians who have predicted oil shortages for the future may have to revise their calculations.

Down on the coast of Southern California, a scientist of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography has announced a process to "infect" exhausted oil sands with a bacteria which will drive the oil out of the sand. As time describes it, these bacteria "snuffling under ground like fierce microscopic ferrets, would chase residual oil toward waiting wells."

Once introduced in an oil bearing area these "bugs", by sheer multiplication, push oil particles off the grains of oil sand. They dissolve limestone, making the formation more porous. They generate carbon dioxide, which shoves oil particles ahead of it by gas pressure. The bacteria also produce a "detergent" (soaplike substance) which makes clinging oil films gather into free globules.

At present oil men are working for a practical application of this discovery. They see in it an opportunity to glean the last drop of oil from known fields. If they are successful, a tremendous step will have been taken to assure the fullest possible use of one of America's most valuable resources—and at the same time achieve maximum conservation.

This is one more example of how the oil industry is leaving no stone unturned both to develop new oil resources—and to get top productivity from the old.

Agent For The Consumer

Business magazines have recently featured many articles on the efforts of American retailers to obtain goods at lower prices. And that is a story of direct interest to every consumer, and to every man's pocket-book, in these days of depreciated dollars.

Retailers are convinced that prices for many kinds of goods are too high—that it is possible to give more for the money. They are taking that attitude in their dealings with manufacturers. They believe that a good shirt should be available to the public at $2.50 or $2.75 instead of $3.50 or more. They are watching the pennies as well as the dollars.

The purpose of all this is to better serve and please a public which is beginning to buy carefully and in minimum amounts. The buyer for a retail store thus becomes, in effect, the agent of the consumer. His interest is the consumer's interest. He knows that there are two gauges of value for anything—price and quality. And what he is after is the most quality at the least price.

Manufacturers must pass on the increased labor and other costs of the time. But what retailers are doing is to see that the increase is held to the lowest figure—and that, when possible, reductions in price will be made. That is a tremendous service to us all.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Everybody and his uncle has an idea on what is wrong with the country—also how to fix it. So it looks as if we were getting some place and will maybe do something versus sitting down and waiting for Utopia to light on our shoulder, like back a dozen or so years when the Govt. was pouring big dinero into model communities—and which communities have grown over and gone to seed and are dead horses and still haunt us as we amble down to the income tax place. If we can agree unanimously that something is wrong, maybe we can agree unanimously on how to fix it.

What is your idea, says Henry, if you are so smart. Thank you, I says, and as I see it there is still dirty work goin' on at the crossroads. Will-o-the-wisp fummididdles are still cookin'—but half way behind our backs. Dams and power-houses are now our weakness. There are dams before us—dams behind us. All are tax free. All a burden. All unnecessary. And if you happen to live in New Jersey or Alabama or North Dakota, you need not guffaw or look upon Oregon or weel superior to the Oregonians as the Govt. starts its third dam—the Dorena Dam—there on the Willamette.

Sambo spreads his spending even-Stephen—on March 15th you will savvy. You can say that much for Uncle Samuel, he plays no favorites.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

Nation's Highways

The nation's highway system includes some 415,000 miles of state highways, 2,400,000 miles of county, township and village roads and 250,000 miles of city streets. Of this, 1,415,000 miles are unsurfaced.

Plan Asparagus Plantings

Since asparagus plantings should last from 12 to 20 or more years, the crop should be carefully planned, the same as for starting an orchard.

Uses for Tung Oil

Four-fifths of the tung oil is used in top-grade paints and varnishes. Large amounts are used by linoleum and oilcloth manufacturers. The oil goes into printing inks, electric insulating compounds, automobile brake linings, lacquer linings for tin cans. Its wartime uses included weatherproofing cannon shells, rifle cartridges, tank guns, tents and vehicle covers, and a wide variety of military fabrics.

Aid for Blind

Every state has a program for aiding needy blind persons. Most states receive reimbursement from the federal government under the Social Security act. The federal government pays $10 of the first $15 given to a blind person by the state and half of additional payments up to a maximum of $45 a person. A few states pay more than $45 a month, but they get only $25 from the federal government.

FIRST IN CAR SALES—FIRST IN TRUCK SALES
FIRST IN COMBINED CAR AND TRUCK SALES!

The final registration figures are in, and again in 1946 America purchased more Chevrolet cars—more Chevrolet trucks—more Chevrolet cars and trucks combined—than any other make, despite the fact that Chevrolet was out of production entirely during the first three months of the year! A magnificent tribute to Chevrolet production efficiency, as well as to the dollar value of Chevrolet products! It's the best proof you can possibly have that you're wise to choose Chevrolet, the only cars giving BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST, and the only trucks rating as THRIFT-CARRIERS FOR THE NATION! True, there still aren't enough new Chevrolets to go around, but highest popular demand means higher dollar value, just as highest production means quicker delivery of your new car or truck. Lucille Rhymer Weds Charles Wikoff In La Grange Sunday

The First Methodist church of La Grange, Ill., was chosen by Miss Lucille Rhymer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rhymer, of Antioch, and Charles W. Wikoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Wikoff, of Urbana, Ill., as the place for their wedding last Sunday.

In the pretty church parlor which was decorated with white snapdragons and white azaleas they pledged their vows before the Rev. Mr. Bloomquist in the presence of the immediate families of both the bride and bridegroom.

The bride wore a gray gabardine suit with white accessories and her corsage was a lovely arrangement of orchids and white satin ribbons. Miss Alyda Ratajick, a sorority sister of the bride, was her bridesmaid. She wore a navy blue suit with red accessories and her corsage was of matching red camellia. The mothers of the bride and bridegroom wore corsages of pink camellia.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served the wedding party at the White House tea room the newlyweds leaving immediately after for a honeymoon in the east.

Mrs. Wikoff was a graduate of Antioch Township high school and has been a student of music at the University of Illinois for the past year and a half. She is a member of Sigma Kappa, Sigma Alpha Iota, and Shi-Ai sororities.

Mr. Wikoff graduated from Urbana High school and attended the University of Illinois until his enlistment in the U. S. Army Air corps. He is a former lieutenant and a member of the air corps reserves.

Mr. and Mrs. Wikoff will live in Chicago after April, where Mr. Wikoff is enrolled in school. On the completion of his course they will make their home in Urbana, Ill.

Miss Rhymer was guest of honor at a bridal shower on Tuesday evening, March 4, given by her aunt, Mrs. James Banks, at her home near Grayslake. The evening was spent in playing bunco after which a dainty luncheon was served by Mrs. Banks and her daughter, Miss June Banks. There were about twenty-five friends and relatives present and Miss Rhymer received many lovely gifts which she opened amid much friendly advice and good wishes.

Hope Eternal

By Gwynn Jones

WNU Features.

EPITAPH JONES closed the door of the crazy old cabin with a resounding bang. He gave the house a malignant look before he turned and stamped noisily off the sagging porch.

Though he looked a carefree figure, Epitaph's thoughts were acutely painful. "A weepin' woman. Always a weepin'." Livin' in lux'ry, a lovin' man, all the work she can do and still she weeps. No sooner she stops weepin' for one thing she begins weepin' for somethin' else. Weep and cry—cry and weep, till I gotta find me some real sunshine somewhere, quick."

As though drawn by a magnet, his feet climbed a steep street, passed a pool hall, a fruit market, a barber shop, a pawn shop. He turned through a white-washed gate into a neat yard where red tubs set on great gray stumps waited their summer cargo of flowers.

Epitaph's knock was answered by a trim young woman who greeted him with a pleased laugh.

"Why, how-de-do, Mr. Jones. I was jest sayin' to myself I wisht that nice Mr. Jones would drop along and here you come promenadin' in. Do have this easy chair, Mr. Jones, and lemme take your hat."

Tearful spring had drifted into gracious summer and summer had faded into frost-tinted autumn when Epitaph again crossed the black and gray ash heaps where grimy children and bony goats still swarmed. He did not swagger now. His raiment was as natty as ever and his cap still clung at a rakish angle but there was a chastened air about him. He had a look of one who has suffered a grievous disillusionment.

"Why how-de-do, Mr. Jones. I was jest sayin' to myself I wisht that nice Mr. Jones would come along."

Pausing before the crazy old cabin, he surveyed it fondly. Then he tip-toed across the sagging porch and slowly pushed open the protesting door.

A TALL thin woman in a dejected black dress appeared from an inner room. She saw Mr. Jones and began to laugh. Mr. Jones felt the universe reeling. Sissy laughing!

"Why Sissy, I thought you was such a weepin' woman. You sick Sissy?"

"No indeedy. Never felt better in my life. Come right in, Epitaph," Sissy trilled merrily.

"How come you to change so, Sissy?"

Sissy chuckled, "Well, when you went off with that gigglin' Cyrene I took a thought to myself. If that no-account Cyrene can laugh another girl's man away from her, I says, I better learn me some laughs too, so I did."

"Epitaph shuddered as at a prickling memory."

"But Sissy, I don't like laughin' women. Can't you weep jest a little, Sissy?"

"No, I'll weep no more. How come you stayed at Cyrene's so long if you don't like laughin' women, Epitaph?"

"This mornin' she got a—kind of laughin' fit and throwed a hammer at me. So I took it was kind of a hint and I jest natchelly snuck out and left. Hammer hit me, too."

"Ain't that a shame. Cyrene didn't ought to act so. Now me when I have laughin' fits I jest hurl flatirons," and Sissy caught up one that stood on a near-by table and advanced on her guest in a perfect gale of merriment.

The west was still bright when Epitaph beached his boat on the sandy shore. A crooked path led him to a small clearing in a wood. On a ragged blanket before a ramshackle hut built mostly of packing cases and tin strips, sprawled a man, idle, relaxed, half-hidden in a haze of rank tobacco smoke. A scrawny hound, equally relaxed, dozed beside him. As Epitaph Jones gazed on that peaceful scene a sense of relief, of security, swept over him.

The man on the blanket looked up. He spoke with a rare economy of effort.

"Hi, Epitaph. Make y'esf 'home. Meet m' sis' 'Vang'line." He closed his eyes, exhausted.

Epitaph shivered—half turned to flee. Then he made an about-face.

Said Mr. Jones most politely, "How-de-do, Miss 'Vang'line, I jest dropped in to see would you like me for a steady boarder. I need me a change of climate, bad, and with you I could dwell forever in one apex of glorious deliriousness," concluded Mr. Jones in an ecstatic burst of poetic fervor.

Why freight rates are going up...

Since 1939, railroad employees have had three general pay raises totaling 52 1/2%, and the prices of fuel, materials and supplies have risen 61 1/2%.

But when the war ended in 1945, the railroads were still hauling freight at rates no higher, and in some cases lower, than when the war began.

Without increased revenues, railroads could not meet these costs and also provide improvements in equipment and facilities—improvements that are essential for the low-cost freight and passenger services which are necessary to America's high standard of living.

Under these circumstances—and almost a year after the last major wage increase—the Interstate Commerce Commission recently approved an average increase in freight rates of 17 1/2%.

Of all the price increases in America today, few have been so little and so late as that in the price of railroad transportation.

How important are healthy railroads to a prosperous country?

Only when the railroads are financially healthy can they provide the new equipment, improved road beds, and better terminal facilities needed for still better service to you.

The defense of the nation depends upon the continuance of the efficient transportation which served the nation so well in the last war.

The railroads are among the largest employers of labor. They buy over 100,000 different products. They pay big taxes—taxes which are spent not only for public schools, public health, and police and fire protection, but even for highways, airways, airports and inland waterways.

Railroads are America's lifeline—keeping goods flowing among the 48 states day and night in all weather.

They can continue to do this only if there is a reasonable balance between income and outgo. Like yourself, the railroads must make ends meet!

We are publishing this and other advertisements to talk with you at first hand about matters which are important to everybody.
